PRESIDENT'S COLUMN - GARY BASHIAN

cause I didn't plan properly and had no good way to hold a box lid for refining the underside.

See you next time.

Gary

I've taken the logo we selected last month and had business cards and, with help from Tom Lienhard, baseball caps made up. We'll talk about polo shirts at the August meeting, and I also want to get our Webmaster (great guy, by the way), to add the new logo to our website.

As many of you know, I moved last month, and I haven't had a chance to get the shop set up yet. In fact, Marshfield a few days ago was the first time I've turned in at least a month. Between moving, getting ready for Marshfield, and work (you know, that nasty thing some of us do so we can afford to do other things), I haven't had time to turn. I believe it's called "turning withdrawal".

Take a moment to plan the process of making a piece. Just last month I had a problem be-

JULY MEETING NOTES:

July Meeting Minutes

By Donna Banfield

We welcomed new member Shawn Flynn

Sharon Green fed us and Mike Souter wasw guilited into bring- ing food for the next meeting.

After a vote it was decided to have an August meeting, which will take place on the usual 4th Thursday of the month.

Club BBQ set for September 17th at Tom Lienhard’s in Winthrop, MA

Peter Teubel created some club logos for shirts and hats. Sam- ples were passed around for a vote.

The Escoulen demonstration in Rhode Island was awesome according to those who attended reported Gary Bashian.

VP Dietrich Kulze brought up the possibility of looking into new venues for the club, specifically longer term venues where the club members have turnings that are showcased at a site or location (such as a museum) for a period of months. For exam- ple, the South Shore woodturners are displaying their work at the Fuller Museum in Brockton for 18 months. This topic raised a discussion on the possibility of committing the club to too many venues. Tom Lienhard volunteered to work on this com- mittee, assisted by Frank Ford and Shawn Flynn.

Mike Souter brought in the woodchain piece after putting a rim on it. Tom Lienhard took the turning for additional work.

Derek Te- Paske do- nated three turning books for the club library.

Gary Bashian noted that some of the club members who host open shop visits offer food to the guests, and raised the question of whether the club should reimburse the host. Peter Teubel suggested making the visits a potluck, where members bring a dish to pass.

Gary Bashian brought up the idea of our club, along with 6 other area woodturning clubs, host a turning symposium (as suggested by Angelo lafrate, R.I. woodturner and AAW national board member). The date of Spring 2006 was men- tioned, but it was pointed out that this could conflict with the Symposium held at Pinkerton Academy in Derry every three years.

Gordon Clarks Natural Edge Walnut form

Speaking of symposiums, the Totally Turning Symposium is coming up October 15th and 16th in Albany, NY.

Gary still has handouts from the early demonstrations for those who were unable to download the PDF files.

Members looking for green wood – Bobbie Tornheim’s neighbor in E. Lexington has Beech and Maple trees that came down.

Derek TePaske reports that the club has $2700.00 in the bank.
